6 Strategies for Reaching Young Adults

Becoming a Church that looks younger

1. Give away Leadership at the right time.

- Giveaway leadership so that you can focus on more things.

- Help to develop them as leaders by putting them in places that go with their skills.

- Offer them guidance in the roll by meeting with them, Encouraging them, and talking about weaknesses.

The background of the image features two Edison-style light bulbs with visible filaments, each enclosed in a black wire cage. The bulbs are lit, casting a warm, yellowish glow. They are positioned against a dark, textured background. The overall aesthetic is rustic and artistic.

2. Learn their culture without condemning it

- Ask questions.

- Spend time with them to understand them.

- Do not speak in broad generalizations about them.

3. Take the Gospel Seriously

- Speak Against sin.
- Make decisions based on the Gospel
- Be consistent with your views

4. Community is Key

- Classroom environments promote learning.
- A home environment inspires family.
- Young Families want community over facilities
- Be Welcoming but not Smothering

5. Prioritize Young Families Everywhere.

- Get a younger person to come to your church and tell you the things that would make them feel awkward.
 - Signage needs to be a big deal.
- Always think about families when creating new content and events

6. Love Your Community Well.

- The needs of the Community have to be impacted through the church.
- The community needs to be focused on when making large decisions such as mission outreach or building programs.
- Your church needs to be a beacon of light in the community.
